School board meeting reveals system's chasms

BY TED SHOCKLEY
Eastern Shore Post

The Accomack County Sheriff's Office recently has investigated reports of crimes by school students including possession of child pornography, blackmail, assault, bomb threats, and threats of bringing guns to class.

Sheriff Todd Wessells made the sobering disclosure during the Accomack School Board's Tuesday, Oct. 15, meeting and said his office sometimes does not get help from school officials when investigating crimes.

"I just need some cooperation," he said.

Kinsey Rayfield, a Cape Charles resident who is a first-year student at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, won the first of 10 weekly rounds of the Eastern Shore Post's Eastern Shore Bowl football contest, sponsored by Buchanan Subaru of Pocomoke City.

Rayfield only missed one game — he incorrectly picked Georgia State University to defeat Old Dominion University — among high school, college, and professional football games played Oct. 10 to 13.

As a weekly winner, Rayfield won $50 and is the first of 10 to qualify to win the grand prize of $500.

The raucous meeting again exposed deep fissures involving the school board, the school superintendent, law enforcement, the community, and school system employees.

One speaker said the school board's treatment of Superintendent Rhonda Hall reflected a "political, racist agenda."

Another speaker, the husband of a school cafeteria manager who received a 1.29% raise after a compensation study, told the school board, "You can take her job and shove it up your backside."

James Fedderman, an Accomack teacher, said during the meeting that a voter recall process has begun to remove Chairwoman Janet Martin Turner from the school board.

In addition, a Chincoteague parent said several threats to "shoot up" Chincoteague Combined School "on specific dates" were not communicated to parents.

Before the meeting, held at Metompkin Elementary School, a prayer vigil was held outside in support of Hall, who last month had a pay raise rescinded by the school board — because the school board never approved the raise.

Speakers' withering criticism of the school board and the superintendent only seven weeks after the start of the school year left the impression of fraying public confidence in elected and appointed school board leaders.

In September, Hall was reprimanded by Lisa Coons, state superintendent of public instruction, for not following school protocol regarding cooperating with local law enforcement after a school shooting was threatened.

Wessells also told the school board in September that Hall did not cooperate with the sheriff's office during a criminal investigation.

In a rebuttal sent to parents, Hall said there was "a lot of misinformation" reported about the threat that drew the state superintendent's rebuke.

Hall was criticized during Tuesday's meeting by Accomack County resident Sam Sellard, who said the superintendent still has not "assembled a threat-assessment team," as directed by the state superintendent.

Sellard said Hall was "excoriated" for her "incompetence."

But the bulk of the vitriol during the meeting was reserved for the school board for its alleged disrespect of Hall and for the compensation study, which apparently gave some of the school system's lowest earners the smallest raises.

Fedderman described it as "a system of chaos, confusion, and the misuse of power, as well as the ongoing attacks against the superintendent that [are] rooted in racism, deceit, and hatred."

"The community is watching and we demand better," said speaker Quintavion Washington.

Man pleads guilty to murdering two in 2021

BY NANCY DRURY DUNCAN
Eastern Shore Post

A forty-eight-year-old New Church man who murdered two people in a December 2021 crime spree that began in Pocomoke City, Md., and continued into Virginia was sentenced to 40 years in the penitentiary with more time suspended.

Earlier this year, Gary Joseph Fleig Sr. pleaded guilty to the 2021 murders of Edward Bruce Mears Jr., of Oak Hall, and Maurice Lamont “Rico” Fiddemon, 44, of Temperanceville, along with a host of other related felonies.

On Dec. 3, 2021, Fleig and his wife went to Mears’ home planning to rob him to get money for drugs.

While inside, Fleig stabbed Mears, took his gun, then shot and killed him.

Commonwealth’s Attorney Spencer Morgan said the pair was inside Mears’ home for almost an hour, with Fleig taking time for a shower before leaving with stolen jewelry, coins, and toilet paper.

As the pair left, Fleig set the house on fire. A surveillance video showed the pair going inside the house and later leaving with the stolen items.

The crime was discovered when firefighters were called to the brick, one-story house on U.S. Route 13.

In an interview with police later, Fleig said they went to the house to burglarize it and used charcoal lighter fluid found there to start the fire that burned the house.

On the following day, police were dispatched to a field on U.S. Route 13, where they found the body of Fiddemon lying in a pool of blood with lacerations to his fingers and hands.

The officers suspected Fleig might be involved because when he was taken into custody and transported to the sheriff’s office, he said, “So long, Rico” as they passed the location on the highway where Fiddemon’s body was found.

Fleig later told police that he, his son, and Fiddemon were driving in his car. His son and Fiddemon were arguing and did not get along. Fleig stopped the car and his son and Fiddemon continued to argue, he said.

He shot Fiddemon because he thought he had a gun and did not want his son to get shot, Fleig said.

In addition to the two murders, arson, and robbery, Fleig pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and firearm charges.

He also pleaded guilty to attempting to escape from the Accomack County jail.

In addition, Fleig faces attempted first-degree murder, burglary, and arson charges in Maryland.

At Fleig’s sentencing, Morgan called Fleig “a dangerous and deadly man” who started with property crimes and evolved into a killer.

There was no evidence to suggest Fiddemon ever had a gun. “The people most affected are the families of the victims,” Morgan said.

He asked Judge Lynwood W. Lewis to impose the full, 40-year sentence in the plea agreement “with a lengthy amount of suspended time.”

“He has pleaded guilty,” said Morgan. “Make the defendant pay the price.”

Judge Lewis asked Fleig if he had anything to say before hearing his sentence. Fleig hesitated, shrugged, and said, “I’m sorry.”

A YES! for Shore Student Athletes

by Dr. Jim Shaeffer

Good things often happen because of “what if” moments. About two years ago, I began to wonder – what if ESCC could start an athletic program for men and women? What if we could tap into the talent and interests of our Shore youth and provide experiences that would attract students, engage the community and reflect our YES! culture of hospitality, accountability, transparency, and inclusion?

Why athletics? Academically we know that student athletes feel more integrated into the school environment which can lead to better academic performance and outcomes. For the athlete, we can provide local students the opportunity to continue their soccer careers while they earn associates degrees without having to leave the Eastern Shore.

It is also a great opportunity for the student athlete to be exposed to a higher level of competition as well as honing their skills, all while building pride in the school and the Eastern Shore. And having a soccer team is a great way to build even more connections with our community, offering events and opportunities to bring us together on the pitch.

The interest and enthusiasm for a college team builds on the success of our local high school efforts and recreation leagues. We’ve heard interest from those involved for years. The challenge was how to fund the soccer team.

We put together a budget based on the experiences of other Virginia Community colleges that have athletic programs. I made a presentation, first to the Accomack Board of Supervisors and then to the Northampton Board of Supervisors. At the same time, I approached the Eastern Shore Community College Foundation to ask for their support.

The wonderful news came last spring and summer, that each board supported our request as did the ESCC Foundation. We have the funding we need to get started.

I shortly realized that having the funding for a project is a long way from actually launching a program. We needed community partners to make this happen. We reached out to Shore Soccer League and the Randy Custis Memorial Park Foundation in hopes that they would partner with us to create a regulation college field at Custis Park in Nassawadox. Both organizations are very supportive. Thanks to Shore Soccer League and the Randy Custis Foundation for identifying the space for the ESCC field. With their help, we will begin seeding the field in November so it will be ready for use in Spring 2025.

Additionally, we met with leadership from Accomack County, and we are working with their Parks & Rec leaders to develop a regulation college field at Sawmill Park in Accomac.

What’s next? We are currently in the midst of hiring a part-time coach. Once the coach is hired, we move directly into student recruitment for the men’s and women’s teams. This will include recruiting existing ESCC students and high school seniors from every high school on the Shore. The feedback I’ve received is that there is a great deal of interest in playing ESCC Soccer.

We are also in the process of creating a team name. We are gathering ideas from across the Shore with the ultimate decision coming from our ESCC students. The current survey is available at our ESCC website at es.vccs.edu. We invite you to participate in generating name ideas!

While we will not field our first ESCC Soccer team until Fall 2025, our new coach will lead an effort for intramural soccer play in Spring 2025. This will be a great opportunity for our students to work on their skills and simply to just have fun.

We invite the Shore community to share our excitement as our “what if” moment of launching ESCC Soccer takes shape and another chapter of our YES! culture will deliver even more opportunities to Shore student athletes. Stay tuned!

Find out about the proposed plans and major design features for a project to convert the existing intersection at Route 13 (Lankford Highway) and Route 648 (Daugherty Road) to a restricted crossing U-turn (RCUT) in Accomack County. The proposed project is designed to improve overall safety issues at this location, such as insufficient turn lane and taper lengths, as well as the lack of median crossover delineation.

Come see the proposed plans designed to reconfigure the intersection to an RCUT, install new lighting, and construct two bulb-out shoulder extensions in each direction on Lankford Highway to provide additional room for larger vehicles making U-turn maneuvers.

Review the proposed project plans and National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) document in the form of a Programmatic Categorical Exclusion (PCE) at the public hearing or at VDOT's Hampton Roads District Office located at 7511 Burbage Drive, Suffolk, VA, 23435, 757-956-3267, 800-367-7623, TTY/TDD 711. You can also review the project information at VDOT's Accomack Residency Office located at 23096 Courthouse Avenue, Accomack, VA, 23301, 757-787-5856. Please call ahead to ensure the availability of appropriate personnel to answer your questions.

EXMORE

Sewer installation has 'loose ends', grease gums works for some residents

BY STEFANIE JACKSON BOWMANN
Eastern Shore Post

One Exmore Town Council member continues to voice concerns over the town's ability to finish paying for the construction of its new sewer system.

Councilman Chase Sturgis said on Monday, Oct. 7, that the sewer project has a lot of "loose ends."

"Is the engineer going to bankrupt us?" he asked, referring to Virginia-based firm Bowman Consulting.

Sturgis was concerned because the town council has been approving monthly payments to Kevcor Contracting, of Norfolk, of around $1 million.

Exmore has a little more than $1.5 million left to spend on the sewer system, with about three months remaining before project completion.

"We don't have $1 million a month until January," Sturgis said.

Town Manager Robert Duer pointed out that the contractor "signed a contract for X million dollars. He eats the rest of it."

"That's a lot to eat," said Mayor Douglas Greer.

"There's still some negotiation," Sturgis said. "We control the check-book."

He made a motion to approve the 14th payment to the contractor, about $909,000. The motion passed unanimously.

However, Sturgis requested a meeting with a representative of Kevcor and town inspector John Maynard before the next payment date.

Director of Utilities Taylor Dukes reported that a contract had been signed with R.H. Contracting, of Atlantic, to re-plumb 15 homes that have not yet connected to the new sewer system because structures had been built on top of their septic tanks.

Dukes said the total cost is less than the amount the town council approved of $5,000 per home.

He also is working with a Maryland-based engineer to connect seven homes in Belle Haven to the sewer system. Exmore already supplies water to each of the seven homes.

The engineer "is thinking he's going to be under $1,000 per connection." The homeowners will be responsible to pay the connection fees, Dukes said.

He said grease is a "big deal" to the Hampton Roads Sanitation District, and Exmore must require certain cooks and bakers to install interceptors to prevent grease from entering the sewer system and blocking pipes. The tank sizes range up to 1,000 gallons.

Duer noted that one sewer pump at a home in New Road already has failed "due to bacon grease."

The landlord had to pay nearly $2,700 for the repair and replacement of the pump, Dukes said.

During a public comment period, Brenda Bailey asked who is monitoring Kevcor employees working on the sewer connections.

"If we weren't home when they ran those lines for the septic, they were going to go straight across our yard," she said. "Who's monitoring those people ... to stop them from taking shortcuts?"

Dukes noted that Maynard inspects the work, and he has an employee who fills in when needed.

He told Bailey that, when Kevcor employees were working at Bailey's home, they were following plans that "totally should have been changed."

"I understand your frustration," he said. "I'm glad ... you caught it."

SERVING VIRGINIA'S EASTERN SHORE

THE PAPER'S POSITION

Fall sees biggest uptick in pedestrian-car crashes

As people venture out into the seasonal weather, road users are reminded to pay attention and use caution.

October, November, and December have the most pedestrian crashes, with 6 p.m. to midnight being the most fatal time frame, according to Drive Smart Virginia.

And statistics show roadways continue to get more dangerous. Virginia Department of Motor Vehicles crash data reports there were 1,699 crashes involving pedestrians in 2023, a 15.1% increase over 2022. Of those, 133 were fatal.

Additionally, there were 590 bicycle-involved crashes with 15 fatalities, a 36.4% spike from 2022.

Those statistics are a good reason why drivers, cyclists, and pedestrians should all take steps to protect themselves and others on roadways — especially during October as safety groups mark Bicyclist and Pedestrian Awareness Month.

Drivers should slow down, eliminate all distractions, and drive sober. Virginia law requires that drivers allow at least 3 feet of space between their vehicles and others using the road, including cyclists, pedestrians, and people on scooters or in wheelchairs. Drivers also are required to stop for pedestrians in crosswalks and should always stop to look for pedestrians and cyclists before turning.

Low light conditions during dawn, dusk, and nighttime present significant dangers to cyclists and pedestrians. Drivers should always use headlights and be aware of blind spots, especially if driving a larger vehicle.

Pedestrians should cross the street at corners or intersections and use crosswalks when available. Remember to look left, right, and left again before crossing. Also, avoid distractions like looking at cellphones, keep an eye out for vehicles turning right on red, and be aware of vehicles' blind spots.

Cyclists should take measures to stay safe by obeying traffic laws and signs and wearing a helmet. Avoid distractions like phones and listening to music — it's illegal in Virginia to wear earphones in both ears while riding a bike. Be vigilant for pedestrians, roadway hazards, and potentially dangerous situations like cars turning or backing up.

God has forgiven Trump for affair

To the editor:

I was very sad to read the letter in the Oct. 11 edition of the Eastern Shore Post, "Writer will not be voting for Trump," which dredged up a personal mistake former President Donald Trump made 20 years ago.

If this happened, I am sure he deeply regrets it. It is his business, not mine or ours.

I do not go back to mistakes former President Clinton made and he was far more active than Trump.

Trump has been forgiven by his wife and, more importantly, by God.

Perhaps we all need to re-read the part of the Bible where Jesus tells us about casting stones — judge not lest you be judged.

Fox News isn't news, it is entertainment

To the editor:

Unless you are someone who only watches Fox News, you are aware of the massive legal liability actions filed against Fox for routinely lying about activities of several voting machine companies during the 2020 federal election.

Fox, through various employees such as Hannity, Ingram, Carlson, Hobbs, and others repeatedly lied to their viewers about companies such as Dominion Voting Machines.

Dominion and others brought suit. The Dominion suit was settled by Fox just before entering the courtroom.

Fox was required to pay Dominion $787 million and did so.

During the pretrial process Dominion provided a couple thousand instances where they notified Fox that a particular utterance was false.

Fox was asked to retract the statements. At one point, Fox attorneys argued that Fox was entertainment, not news.

Dominion proved that Fox knew that the statements were false. Fox News discussed how to proceed. The company decided that if they came clean, they would lose viewers and Fox stock value would suffer. So Fox News continued to lie to its viewers over and over again.

Due to Fox News routinely lying about the voting machine irregularities that Fox falsely said existed, many companies and individuals suffered. The suffering included death threats against employees of the voting machine companies.

Fox management ordered the Fox News employees not to cover the trial. So if you only paid attention to Fox, you missed out on this story.

If someone must watch Fox fairy tales, they should at least read or watch a reliable, trusted, news source.

Despite comp study, workers still underpaid

To the editor:

I am the cafeteria manager for Nantux Middle School. I would like to address some recent misinformation that has been published in regards to wages and raises for Accomack County Public Schools employees.

The recent compensation study was meant to adjust the wage disparity between our county and nearby counties when it came to support staff.

An article was published in last Friday's Eastern Shore Post that stated that the employees that were affected by the comp study had received approximately a 10% raise. That was not the case — at least not for cafeteria workers and managers.

The numbers I've seen were in the 2.5% to 5% range.

The article also stated that all workers now received a minimum of $15 an hour. That is also incorrect. The part-time and substitute workers in the cafeterias are well below the $15 an hour mark. In some cases by as much as $2.

A quick Google search will show that cafeteria managers in neighboring counties are making a minimum of $5,000, more per year. I've seen several making over $10,000 to $15,000 a year more.

I understand longevity in the position would warrant higher pay. I'm referring to the lowest salaried manager in Accomack County in comparison to the lowest salaried manager in other counties.

I understand the cost of living in other counties may be higher and that accounts for some of the wage disparity. However, the cost of living here in Accomack County is rising as well.

I took this job because the schedule aligned better with my children's schedules. I would not have been able to do so if my husband wasn't making what he does, as well as providing health insurance for our family. I cannot imagine how any cafeteria worker could survive on their own without a second income.

That also brings up the issue of health insurance. The cost to us, while lower than last year, is still not really attainable to many.

For example, if I had to cover myself, my husband, and our two children, it would take approximately half of my paycheck.

Now imagine if there was a single worker trying to support two children with their wages and relying on health insurance through Accomack County. It would take at least two-thirds of a paycheck, if not more. What does that leave them to live on?

Advertisement endorses tax-funded abortion

To the editor:

The 84 women who authorized their names to be attached to a Harris-Walz full-page advertisement for the Nov. 5 election in the Oct. 11 edition of the Eastern Shore Post are endorsing taxpayer-funded abortions, partial-birth abortions, and infanticide.

While in Congress, Kamala Harris voted no on S.311, the Born Alive Abortion Survivors Protection Act. This bill would require health care practitioners at the time a child is born after a botched abortion to exercise the same degree of professional skill, care, and diligence to preserve the life and health of the child that they would render to any other child born at the same gestational age and ensure that the child is immediately transported and admitted to a hospital. Again, Vice President Harris voted against the Born Alive Abortion Survivors Protection Act.

In January 2023, Gov. Tim Walz signed the PRO (protect reproductive options) Act. This law goes further than Roe v. Wade, which legalized abortion throughout the entire United States until roughly the end of the second trimester.

The Minnesota law allows for abortions through all nine months of pregnancy with no restrictions whatsoever. The PRO Act states that "parental involvement is not required in Minnesota" and that underage girls "can consent to an abortion and do not have to notify a parent to get an abortion."

In addition, Walz signed into law a revision of the Minnesota law that required "responsible medical personnel" to use "all reasonable measures consistent with good medical practice to preserve the life and health of the born-alive infant."

The legislation Walz signed in May 2023 got rid of the word "preserve" and replaced the word with "to care for the infant who is born alive." These same words echo Virginia's previous governor, Ralph Northam — The infant would be delivered, the infant would be kept comfortable, and then a discussion would ensue between the physician and the mother.

Under Walz's watch, it is reported that eight babies were born alive during a botched abortion. All eight of them died. None of them received life-sustaining medical care in an attempt to save their lives.

As the Declaration of Independence states, all men and women are "created equal, they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Without life nothing else matters.

'Democrat Party is not what I remember'

To the editor:

Today's Democrat Party is not what I remember. They've turned away from the working class in favor of "We, the elites."

They focus on woke ideology at the expense of women, children, and minorities.

They want to allow males to compete against females in women's sports and use women's facilities.

They are exposing children to grooming manuals with sexually explicit subject matter and offering gender-affirming care before a child is fully developed and without parental consent.

They have made education more about ideologies than fundamentals, critical thinking, and careers.

Poor communities are targeted for abortion clinics and now gender-affirmation clinics for reasons that I find demeaning.

Every American should know what George Soros is doing. His funds promote riots, crime, and crises.

His money backs state attorneys general who favor criminals over victims. He funds leftist mainstream media and organizations (Moveon.org and Center for American Progress) that have moved the party to the extreme left.

He bankrolls Democrat campaigns in totally absurd amounts. He funds organizations that bring immigrants

National Recovery Month highlights positive outcomes

BY SARAH BARNES
Guest columnist

In September the Eastern Shore Community Services Board celebrated National Recovery Month.

Established in 1989, this month-long awareness campaign was created to highlight the challenges and positive outcomes of those individuals living with substance-use disorder and or mental health conditions.

This campaign strives to increase community awareness in the hope of providing the supports needed for someone on their recovery journey.

This campaign reminds us that recovery is possible. It helps to provide information to reduce stigma and helps the community to renew its commitment to overall personal well-being.

Whenever people find the courage to rebuild their lives with healthy life skills, they should be met with individual encouragement and community support.

Recovery is multifaceted and is different for each person: We are all individuals with our own backstories.

Whether it was a traumatic childhood environment, adult trauma, or a family history of mental health concerns, everyone who has the desire to move forward should have access to the resources needed to support their journey.

A holistic approach with individualized supports strengthens the capacity for us to live productive lives.

According to the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, recovery involves four key aspects.

- Health: Promote physical and emotional well-being.

- Home: Emphasize the importance of stable home environments.

- Purpose: Encourage individuals in recovery to engage in meaningful activities.

- Community: Highlight the vital role of social connections in fostering and sustaining recovery.

These four components are healthy lifestyle choices that are necessary for every individual and the entire community.

Recovery for some individuals may include developing skills and connections that didn't exist before substance use or mental health conditions.

Recovery is more than just overcoming personal adversity; it's also about the community supports that are needed to create the best environment for everyone.

This year the administration's Recovery Office created a Gallery of Hope: Artistic expressions of recovery across the nation. View it at <https://bit.ly/4dZpmYC>

This collection of art highlights the transformative power of the creative arts and how art is a fantastic tool for growth and self-discovery.

So although September has past it is never to late to celebrate recovery.

The Eastern Shore Community Services Board offers prevention, mental health and substance use counseling, and additional resources and support for anyone struggling with mental health issues.

to America illegally. The Soros' Open Society Foundations says Europe's refugee crisis should be viewed as the "new normal."

Soros and other neo-liberals who push the radical anti-God, anti-family, anti-freedom agenda in America need to be stopped, not Make America Great Again patriots.

I understand the concerns of Americans in our community who escaped Cuba and Vietnam. They know that censorship and government overreach are threats to our democracy.

The Democrat Party is embracing ideologies that are not the American way of life. It wants to tax everything that Americans work for and funnel money to illegal immigrants.

It uses government, media, college campuses, soft-on-crime policies, and corporations to launch attacks on our rights and freedoms as citizens.

America needs to return to its grassroots and turn to God and the principles that have guided us for generations.

It needs the party that wants to "lift everyone from poverty and allow every person to fulfill their God-given potential," per Lieutenant Governor Winsome Sears. It needs the party of "We, the people!"

left a profound emptiness in his family's hearts and they will miss his fun-loving character, sense of humor, and love for his family.

He is survived by his beloved wife, his two children, and his five grandchildren. Russell's legacy will endure for generations.

A former Marine and career carpenter, Russell retired with his wife to find joy in the tranquil beauty of Chincoteague. He embraced the lifestyle that came with living by the sea. Though his family is deeply saddened by his sudden passing, they find solace in the memories they hold dear.

Anne Foard

Mrs. Anne Upshur Taylor Evans Foard died peacefully on Sept. 26, 2024, after a long and well-lived life. Anne was born to William Cooper Taylor and Lucretia Anne Upshur Taylor on Jan. 16, 1932, in Plainfield, N.J. Her family lived in Plainfield, close to Anne's paternal grandparents, until WWII when her father, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, rejoined the Navy immediately after hearing about Pearl Harbor.

As a child, Anne met both Eleanor Roosevelt and Helen Keller. Following the war, Anne's family moved to Charleston, S.C., where Anne attended Ashley Hall. Later, her family moved to Alexandria, where she graduated from St. Agnes School. During her childhood, Anne often visited Upshur family relatives on the Eastern Shore of Virginia and spent many happy days at Mother Carrie's cottage on the Chesapeake Bay.

Anne graduated from Smith College with a degree in Latin American Studies in 1953. She took her junior year abroad in Mexico, where she became fluent in Spanish. Following graduation, Anne taught elementary school and lived with her parents in Portsmouth at St. Julien's Creek Annex, where her father was the commanding officer. While there, she met dashing Navy Lt. David Wilkinson Evans on a blind date, and he proposed only a few weeks later.

Anne and Dave had four children, David W. Evans Jr., William Taylor Evans, Candace Anne Upshur Evans, and Douglas Randall Evans, and lived all over the United States and in Lima, Peru and Rota, Spain, during the course of Dave's Navy career.

After Dave retired from the Navy in 1971, the family lived on the Eastern Shore until the children graduated from high school. Anne and Dave moved to Charlotte, N.C., to help care for Dave's mother, Virginia Tyler Evans. After Ginny's death, Anne and Dave decided to return to Virginia and moved to Williamsburg, where they spent many happy years making close friends, hosting parties, creating beautiful gardens, volunteering, and playing tennis.

In 1991, they bought a condominium in Granby, Colo., to be closer to children and grandchildren in Colorado and California and to escape the sweltering Williamsburg summers. They shared their time in Colorado with family and a group of close friends, entertained often, volunteered at Rocky Mountain National Park, and fell in love with and traveled all over the American West. Anne remembered times spent in Colorado as some of the happiest of her life.

In 2006, Anne and Dave moved to Westminster Canterbury in Richmond and, true to form, set about making friends, entertaining, and volunteering at Westminster Canterbury and at Second Presbyterian Church.

After Dave's death in 2008, Anne caught the eye of Morehead Foard, a fellow member at Second Presbyterian who had recently lost his wife, Maryann. Anne and Morehead married and found comfort and joy with one another until Morehead died at 101 in 2022. Anne was deeply fond of Morehead's sons, Dick, George, and Tom, and their wives, children, and grandchildren.

Anne was a dedicated teacher who taught grades from elementary to middle and high school and at the community college level. She was gifted at languages and taught both Spanish and French and delighted in conversing in both languages throughout her life whenever the opportunity arose. Anne was also a dedicated learner, read voraciously, and enjoyed spirited discussions about a wide variety of subjects. Anne could coax any shrub, flower, or tree to grow into a thing of beauty, and she created beautiful gardens wherever she lived. Anne's deep faith inspired her to give generously of her time and talents throughout her life. She brought life and laughter wherever she went.

Anne was preceded in death by her husbands, Dave and Morehead, and by her oldest son, David.

She is survived by her children Terry (Barb), Candace, and Doug (Sheryll); and her grandchildren and great-grandchildren, all of whom will cherish her memory.

A service in celebration of Anne's life will be held at Second Presbyterian Church in Richmond on Oct. 25 at 3 p.m.

Larry Pruitt

Mr. Larry Lee Pruitt, 77, was welcomed into the loving arms of his Lord and Savior and his beloved wife, Janet Lee Pruitt, on Friday, Oct. 11, 2024. A lifelong resident of Tangier Island, Larry was born Oct. 18, 1946, to the late Smith and Viola Parks Pruitt.

Like most Tangiermen, working on the water was in Larry's blood. He worked alongside his dad from the time he could pull a pot until he purchased his own boat as a young man. In addition to captaining his boat, he also worked on the tug for Vane Brothers for many years.

Larry was active throughout his community and always went out of his way to help his friends and neighbors. A God-fearing man, Larry lived his faith openly, setting an example for all around him. He was an active member of Swain Memorial United Methodist Church, where he also participated in the choir, and he was a faithful member of the Tangier Volunteer Fire Department for 53 years, serving 40 years as vice president. Larry always looked forward to mornings in the "situation room," where the men would gather to discuss various topics over coffee.

Larry's love for his family was boundless. He shared a special bond with his sister, Charlotte, and their daily conversations were a testament to their close relationship. He was a father figure to his nieces, Ginna and Jackie, and adored his nine grandsons, always lighting up in their presence. The love he had for them was evident through the special bond he shared with each of them.

He leaves to cherish his memory his sister, Charlotte Parks, and her husband, Ed; special nieces, Ginna Giles and Jackie Thomas; grandchildren, Brandon Thomas, Zachary Creedle, Christian Creedle, Kevin Thomas, and Tyler Giles; great-grandchildren, Wyatt, Liam, Layton, and Nash Thomas; nieces, Beth Thomas, Kathy Pruitt, and Laura Landon; nephews, Terry Gene Crockett, Will Crockett, Russell Crockett, Edward Parks Jr., and William Parks; sister-in-law, Barb McCready; and many friends.

Other than his wife and parents, he was predeceased by his sister, Eldora Crockett, and her husband, Donnie; brother, Charlie Pruitt, and his wife, Jerry; nephews, Don Crockett and Chuck Pruitt; and his parents-in-law, Ginny Belle and Lawson Pruitt.

A service to celebrate Larry's life will be held at Swain Memorial United Methodist Church on his 78th birthday, Friday, Oct. 18, at 2 p.m., with the Rev. Charles W. Parks III and Elder Duane Crockett officiating. Family and friends are invited to gather at the church for a time of sharing one hour prior to the service.

Tine Bakker

Mrs. Tine Louise Bakker was born in Westzaan, Netherlands, on Sept. 24, 1927. Her father owned a fabrication plant for cardboard boxes, which remained operational throughout World War II. She remembered running errands for him on her bicycle delivering sugar or flour to the community.

Mrs. Bakker

After the war, she completed secretary school and went to work, where she met Leonard G. Klingen. They married in 1953 in Baarn, Netherlands. The couple welcomed two sons: Leonard in 1953 and Alex in 1955.

Discontented with life and jobs in the Netherlands, they obtained passage on an immigration ship headed for Australia. After living in an old, leaking shack for a year, they built their new home in Oyster Bay, Australia.

Tine spent her life supporting her husband and raising their three children (their daughter, Monica, was born in 1958). To master the English language, she volunteered at the schools. She maintained her thick Dutch accent and was teased by her family when the word "milk" always sounded like "melk."

After Leo finished his education in 1968, they headed to Miami. Tine maintained a positive attitude throughout all these changes by instilling the joy of adventure. She continued to volunteer everywhere until she earned her H&R Block tax certificate. She worked for 20 years. In 1986 Leo became ill, and he passed away in 1988.

Tine's resilience in life set her to adventure again. She traveled to many places, and on a trip met widower Anthony (Tony) Schiavo. The two dated for some time and Tine joined Tony in 1992 in Douglaston, N.Y. They had a good life traveling and going to the opera and Broadway plays. They loved visiting their blended family. Tony passed away in 2019.

In 2020 Tine moved to Eastern Shore

Commonwealth Senior Living. Tine was a determined and resilient woman. She made it a point to always be busy knitting, reading, playing games, and enjoying the visits with her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. Her hallmarks were her smile, her ability to adapt wherever she was, and her never-give-up attitude.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her brother, Joop; two husbands, Leo and Tony; her son, Leonard; and her grandson, Jerad.

She is survived by her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, nieces, nephews, bonus family, and friends. The family gives many thanks to the staff and friends at Commonwealth Senior Living for helping her enjoy her final years.

A service in celebration of Tine's life will be held at Naomi Makemie Presbyterian Church in Onancock on Saturday, Oct. 26, at 2 p.m., with the Revs. Steve and Donna Doan officiating.

Flowers will be accepted or contributions in her memory may be made to Eastern Shore of Virginia Habitat for Humanity, P.O. James Williams Jr.

Mr. James S. Williams Jr., a beloved 94-year-old gentleman of Chincoteague, passed peacefully into the loving arms of the Lord on Thursday, Oct. 11, 2024, at Commonwealth Senior Living in Onancock.

James was one of 18 siblings. He was born on Jan. 7, 1930, in Chincoteague to the late James S. and Estella Williams. James was a member of Union Baptist Church. He was a proud veteran of the U.S. Army, serving with dedication and honor. After his military service, he worked as a guard at NASA, Wallops Island. James adored his family, community, and “come heres” alike.

For nearly a century, James made an island cottage his own. As a true friend of animals, he was exceptionally knowledgeable regarding local waterfowl, shorebirds, and several barnyard friends. Nestled within the greenery of his backyard, James created shelters and maintained healthy diets for a variety of truly fortunate feathered and fur-covered pets and rescues.

James was an island treasure, an authentic “Teaguer” who helped to flavor the island with its distinctive charm admired by many. He lived, laughed, loved, and found the good in whatever circumstance life introduced throughout his many years. James was an avid collector and was happy to share his unique items with others with similar interests.

James served God through serving others. When he entered a room, the atmosphere immediately reflected his good-natured, entertaining demeanor. Through humor, ventriloquism, the sharing of local history, or simply recounting the “days of old,” James brightened and nurtured everyone’s day with positivity and sincerity.

Those left to cherish his memory include a sister, Kay Birch, of Bloxom; a brother, Dale F. Williams Sr.; wife, Bonnie Taylor, of Parkesley; and several nieces, nephews, and cousins. James is also survived by a truly dedicated and supportive friend and confidant, Cindy Kane, of Chincoteague, a sister in Christ for more than 25 years. James will be fondly remembered by a lifetime childhood friend and neighbor of 57 years, Winnie Rose Barrett.

James was preceded in death by his parents and 15 siblings, Robert Milton Williams, Ruby Williams Fries, Marion (Jean) Williams Farley, Dorothy Williams Albert, Olive Williams Shreaves, Helen Williams West, Roy G. Williams, Ruth Williams Gevik, Donald L. Williams, Virginia Williams Wild, Peggy Williams, Duane O. Williams Sr., Darrell Williams, Clement J. Williams, and Sandra Louise Williams.

A favorite saying of James, as he prepared to end a visit with friends and/or family, was: “Bet you’re glad you had a chance to see me!” Well spoken indeed! For everyone who was blessed to cross paths with James was certainly glad for the gift of having a “chance to see him.”

A celebration of life service will be held on April 11, 2025, at 2 p.m. at the Salyer Funeral Home, Inc., Chincoteague, with the Rev. Kevin Eley officiating. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the American Legion Chincoteague Post 159, 4023 Main St., P.O. Box 244, Chincoteague Island, VA 23336-0244.

Services are entrusted to Salyer Funeral Home, Inc., Chincoteague.

Theresa Franklin

Mrs. Theresa Franklin, age 72, beloved wife, mother, and sister, passed away peacefully on Oct. 12 at Riverside Hospital in Onancock. She was surrounded by her loving husband and two children. She was born on Dec. 30, 1951, on Chincoteague Island, to the late Stanley and Ruth (Birch) Reed. Theresa was a true daughter of Chincoteague Island, and her family roots were deep and could be traced to the Assateague Colony, including being related to the little boy, James “Alone” Lunn, who washed ashore after a Spanish shipwreck in the early 1800s.

Theresa is survived by her loving husband of 48 years, David Edward Franklin; children, Candice Franklin Alba and Anthony Franklin; and grandchildren, Olivia and Marcos. Theresa is also survived by her sisters, Crystal Reed Hyett and Melodie Reed; her aunt, Gail Horner; her nephews, Matthew and Robert Mason; her niece, Skylar Reed; and many cousins.

Theresa was preceded in death by her sister, Carla Reed Wells.

After marrying the love of her life in 1976, Theresa moved and lived in many different states in the U.S. (wherever the U.S. Coast Guard sent them). Theresa enjoyed horseback riding, needlepoint, art, home decorating (especially for Halloween and Christmas), and cooking local dishes such as clam fritters.

A graveside service will be held on Monday, Oct. 21, at 11 a.m. at Hill Cemetery on Chincoteague Island.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be sent to Chincoteague Volunteer Fire Company (EMT Services), P.O. Box 691 Chincoteague Island, VA 23336.

Telehealth services coming to ACPS

Eastern Shore Rural Health System, Inc. will begin offering telehealth medical services to an Accomack County Public Schools (ACPS) elementary school after winter break. The pilot school location has not yet been determined.

Children will be screened by the school nurse, and if criteria are met, they will be referred to the Eastern Shore Rural Health System, Inc. nurse based at the school to assess, perform testing, and coordinate a telemedicine visit with a Rural Health provider.

The goal of this program is to create more options to evaluate sick children and begin treatment of their acute symptoms promptly (a sore throat for example), so the children feel better faster and reduce the amount of time out of school.

Rural Health telemedicine program information and registration forms will be sent home with students attending the pilot program school at the beginning of the spring semester. Parents who would like their child to participate in the school telemedicine program will need to complete the necessary registration forms and return them to the school nurse. Additionally, once the program is underway, if a child needs to be seen but does not have a current registration on file, the school will call the parent/guardian to get them to grant permission over the phone to see the student.

Rural Health CEO Jeannette Edwards and ACPS Superintendent Rhonda Hall both expressed their excitement for this program.

Shallows the sites of puppy drum and speck catches

Small red drum, known locally as puppy drum, and speckled trout continue to provide the bulk of the catches in the shallow waters on both sides of the Eastern Shore. Look for increasing numbers of small rockfish (striped bass) during the next couple of weeks as the water temperatures fall.

Bill Hall

Upper Shore

Captain Matt Abell, at the Sea Hawk Sports Center, reported that red drum catches continue on both the Chesapeake Bay and in the seaside shallows.

He recommends using a Berkley Gulp Shrimp or Gulp Swimming Mullet rigged on a light weighted jig head under a 4-Horseman Cork in the grassy shallows for the puppy drum. He added that the best puppy drum action has been occurring around the highest parts of the tide as well as at sunrise and sunset.

Small speckled trout, with a few trophy-sized trout and nice-sized rockfish, have been a bycatch of the shallow water puppy drum fishery.

Chincoteague

Pete Vasiliou, at Captain Steve's Bait and Tackle, told me that the local flounder fishing continues to be "great," with lots of fish being caught along the shore and in the shallow waters along the sea walls.

He added that there has been a consistent speckled trout and red drum bite inside the creeks. Tautog and sheepshead catches have come from around the local piers and bridges. When the winds subside, red drum, kingfish (whiting), and spot catches are being made in the surf of Assateague Island, added Vasiliou.

Wachapreague

Captain Lindsay Paul, aboard the Almost Persuaded, said the flounder bite out of Wachapreague has slowed over the last week. The best action continues to occur during the flood tide for anglers using Berkley Gulp Swimming Mullet with large live minnows or silversides.

Slot-sized puppy drum have been providing action near the inlet and inside the local seaside bays. Both casting Gulp and fishing cut bait on the bottom have been effective techniques on the pups, and action has been occurring during both the flood and ebb tides.

Black sea bass are still taking up residence on the ocean wrecks and are available when the weather permits. Captain Paul had not heard of any recent offshore blue water action.

Lower Shore

Tyler Nestor, at Oceans East — Eastern Shore, described the flounder fishing off Kiptopeke and around the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel as "steady" for anglers jiggling with Gulp

5-inch Grubs tipped with strip baits.

The tautog bite along the concrete ships and the bridge-tunnel is improving. Chunks of crab have been the most productive bait.

Speckled trout, both small and large, have been hitting Mirrolures and paddletails on jig heads inside both lower seaside and bayside creeks.

Puppy drum continue to be caught in the same areas as the speckled trout. Gulp Shrimp fished under popping corks or fresh bait such as cut mullet or shrimp fished on the bottom have all been successful methods at putting puppies in the boat.

Small striped bass, aka rockfish, have also been caught in the creeks on Mirrolures and topwater baits.

Jeb Brady, at Bailey's Bait & Tackle, told me that the speckled trout fishing over the weekend was "decent," with trout enthusiasts reporting a nice class of 22- to 26-inch fish. Trout were being caught along the bayside beaches and creeks by anglers casting topwater lures, Mirrolures, and live bait.

Puppy drum catches are still being made along the bayside beaches and in the seaside marshes on soft plastics fished under popping corks.

The sheepshead bite along the bridge-tunnel pilings has been good when the winds have allowed access. Cut crab has been the top bait for the sheepies.

A nice class of flounder has also been reported along the bridge-tunnel for anglers using Gulp with cut bait, added Brady.

Yellow Jacket backs a four-pronged attack

BY MARK MORING

Eastern Shore Post

Exactly 100 years ago, Notre Dame's unbeaten football team won the national championship behind a quartet of running backs that legendary sportswriter Grantland Rice gave a nickname that would go down in history.

"Outlined against a blue-gray October sky the Four Horsemen rode again," Rice wrote for the New York Herald Tribune. "In dramatic lore they are known as famine, pestilence, destruction, and death. These are only aliases. Their real names are: Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley, and Layden."

In the fall of 2024, Northampton High School has its own powerful quartet of running backs. Maybe they're not yet ready to be called "the Four Horsemen," but coach John Edney does have a nickname for them.

"Hey, you knuckleheads!" Edney calls out when it's picture-taking time at the end of a recent practice. "Get over here!"

It's clearly a term of endearment. Because when these "knuckleheads" hit the field on Friday nights, they knuckle down and run through, around, and past the guys lining up on the other side.

Khaidn Davis, Elijah Hope, Jerry Sturgis, and Jeremiah White — all juniors — have led Northampton (4-2) to four straight wins after an 0-2 start. The Yellow Jackets have been playing so well that Edney hated having a bye week last week. They'll look to restore that momentum at 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 18, against visiting John Marshall (2-5).

Every football team hopes for a 1,000-yard running back. Northampton has one; it just happens to have eight legs, eight arms, and four heads. Davis, Hope, Sturgis, and White have combined for almost 1,400 yards — about 230 yards per game — but none of the four has more than 450.

"The backfield has been very dynamic," says Edney. "They share the workload, and each game one or two of them get hot." Hope was the last one to do so, running for 214 yards and two touchdowns in a 42-18 win over Middlesex two weeks ago.

Hope describes himself as a "speedy/slashy type." Edney calls him "a true tailback with good speed" and says offseason work in the weight room gave him more power. "And he's a team player, through and through. He blocks just as hard as he runs. When he's on, he's fun to watch." Hope also plays linebacker.

Davis calls himself "a speed runner mixed with strength." Edney calls him "kind of our scat back" who hits holes quickly. "He's fast and tough to tackle in the box. He can run our inside game as well as hit the corner for big plays. He could go for six on any given play. He's a gamer." Davis also plays linebacker and cornerback.

Sturgis — a fullback and the only one weighing over 200 pounds — says he's a "strength runner, but if I get in the open field, I'm gone." Edney agrees: "When he gets into the defensive backfield, he can make big plays. He doesn't always get the number of touches the other guys do, but he can wear a defense out with a decent load of carries, then it opens up for the other guys." Sturgis also plays linebacker. And this winter, he'll look to improve on last year's fifth-place finish in the state wrestling meet.

White describes himself as "a speed runner," but Edney says he's "our Swiss Army knife" who has played every skill position on offense. "He's just a smart football player," Edney says. "You can give him a crash course on any position, and he can go out there and execute at a high level." White also plays strong safety and runs track in the spring.

All four runners give credit to their offensive line. So does Edney: "Obviously they can't do what they do without the boys up front," he says. The coach also cites senior quarterback Brock Leland for "conducting the offense efficiently."

Northampton hosts Snow Hill next week and then has Eastern Shore District games against Arcadia (home on Nov. 1) and Nandua (away on Nov. 8). Last year, the Jackets beat the former and lost to the latter, giving the Warriors the district title. But both of those teams are down this year (Arcadia is 2-5, Nandua is 0-6), so the Jackets appear to be on track to win the district for the first time since 2021.

"Winning the district is a goal and we're coming for it," says White. Davis is a little more measured: "We're not focused on the district title," he says. "One game at a time."

Edney would approve of that outlook — just as he heartily approves of this fine quartet.

"What makes these guys special is how hard they play both with the ball in their hands and for one another," he says. "It's truly a joy to coach them."

John and Kate Fitzpatrick brighten Shore with flower farm

BY STEFANIE JACKSON BOWMANN

Eastern Shore Post

Kate and John Fitzpatrick planted a seed six years ago when they acquired a historic property near Pungoteague and transformed it into Chatham Flower Farm, one of the first of its kind on the Eastern Shore.

Now the region is home to more than 10 flower farms, and the industry continues to grow.

Neither of the Fitzpatricks began as a flower grower. Kate Fitzpatrick is an artist and a former horsewoman, an Olympic-level show-jumper. John Fitzpatrick is a former straw grower.

In 2015, Kate Fitzpatrick first visited the Shore, where her future husband was working on a straw farm.

During that first visit, the couple stayed at the Cape Charles House bed-and-breakfast, which was run by husband-and-wife team Bruce and Carol Evans, who are now retired.

The two couples connected quickly, and when the Fitzpatricks were married in 2022, Bruce Evans walked the bride down the aisle.

The Fitzpatricks went on to develop relationships with many people in the “friendly and open” Eastern Shore community. They never experienced the “come-here” and “from-here” phenomenon, Kate Fitzpatrick said.

Of every place she has lived, from Europe to Florida, the Eastern Shore of Virginia stands out as a place that is welcoming and home to many different cultures.

The Eastern Shore is “deeply important,” Kate Fitzpatrick said.

The Fitzpatricks have lived on the Shore since 2017, and they purchased the historic Chatham farm property and began their flower business in 2018.

Flower-growing lends itself well to anyone who wants to get started in farming because it doesn’t require a lot of heavy equipment or space, they said.

Hundreds of flowers can grow in a small bed — for example, the Fitzpatricks have grown about 600 oriental lilies in a bed approximately 10 feet by 60 feet — so the flower business thrives on the four-acre farm with plenty of room to spare.

Dahlias are the featured flower at Chatham Flower Farm and the Fitzpatricks’ favorite.

They appeal to Kate Fitzpatrick because the dahlias are so “big and beautiful,” and the seemingly unending variety of colors speaks to the artist in her.

“This is my life,” she said of the colors that adorn both the dahlias and her oil paintings — mostly abstract coastal landscapes.

Kate Fitzpatrick has other connections to dahlias. Her grandmother, who lived in Maine, raised dahlias and zinnias. Many of the people that Kate Fitzpatrick worked with in horse-showing hailed from Mexico, where the dahlia is the national flower.

She finds dahlias “easy to grow” but sometimes expensive. The flowers start from tubers that can cost anywhere from $6 to $160 each. The tubers typically multiply four times over every year, Fitzpatrick said.

The dahlias begin blooming every year in May, but their prime time is throughout September and October, and they continue blooming until the arrival of a killing frost, she said.

Dahlias are delicate and prone to breakage due to their hollow stems, so the Fitzpatricks string large-holed nets across the flower bed rows; the dahlias grow up through the holes and the nets hold the flowers upright.

Dahlias grow not only in many colors but in many shapes. The types of dahlias found at Chatham Flower Farm include balls, dinner plates, and anemones.

The Fitzpatricks feel as connected to their historic farm as they do to their community.

Kate Fitzpatrick said that when she was shopping for Eastern Shore real estate, the Chatham property was the “lucky No. 13” property she had seen in one day and “that was it for me.”

The 300-year-old farm, complete with a barn that houses Fitzpatrick’s studio, “has a feeling like it’s been loved” and “envelops you with a warm hug,” she said.

The Fitzpatricks take the care of their historic property seriously. “We’re stewards for the next person that owns it,” Kate Fitzpatrick said.

She would like to purchase the surrounding farmland one day and place the entire property under conservation.

The Fitzpatricks also enjoy giving to the community that made Chatham Flower Farm so successful that John was able to quit his job to run the farm, giving Kate more time to focus on her other creative passion, art.

Their “business model” always has been, “What can we do for the community before we do for ourselves?” Kate Fitzpatrick said.

That included Chatham Flower Farm hosting the first annual Meet at the Table farm-to-table dinner in 2018, which benefited the Delmarva Farmers Union and the Eastern Shore Artisans Guild.

Fitzpatrick also serves on the board for the Eastern Shore Artisans Guild, and Chatham Flower Farm is a stop on the group’s annual studio tour.

Her goal is to continue to reach out to the community, collaborate with other flower growers on the Shore, promote buying locally, and create a “flower farm collective” that is a source for area florists.

“The community makes us as good as we are,” she said.

The Chatham Flower Farm and roadside stand are located at 31094 Boggs Road, Painter.

David Turner's love of nature inspires more than sculptures

Born and raised on the Eastern Shore, David Turner has been a wildlife sculptor for 40 years.

His favorite subjects are the diverse and numerous creatures native to the peninsula.

"I see sculpture as a reflection of my love for nature," Turner said. "Seeing that expanse of marsh with wildlife like deer and eagles moving through that space always inspired me."

Turner's favorite subjects also inspired him to design an updated logo for the Virginia Eastern Shore Land Trust and to permanently protect Corratock, a historic property on the Chesapeake Bay.

The logo redesign started with an update for the land trust's 20th anniversary in 2023.

David Turner quickly sketched a draft logo during a regular board meeting.

Board members who sit beside Turner in meetings are familiar with his meeting notes becoming pieces of artwork.

"We are so fortunate to have David Turner, an incredibly talented artist, on our board," said Susan Harris, president of the Virginia Eastern Shore Land Trust. "He generously agreed to design a new logo for the Virginia Eastern Shore Land Trust, one that visually incorporates the elements of our mission statement. I love the way David describes the new logo, saying he just made it a little 'warmer.'"

The sketch, which became the new logo with the help of Karen Parker at Waterford Printing, added trees native to the Eastern Shore, refined the landscape to show farmland, a vegetated buffer, and a waterway, and replaced the structures with a home and barn.

The logo looks similar to the original but is truer to the Eastern Shore and the lands the Virginia Eastern Shore Land Trust conserves.

"Our revised logo more clearly represents our mission of protecting property by highlighting features such as agriculture, habitation, waterways, wetlands, buffer strips, trees, and shrubs," Turner said. "We especially want to emphasize the beauty and benefits of our easement donors living on and Local artist David Turner helped redesign the Virginia Eastern Shore Land Trust logo.

David Turner's love of nature extends beyond his sculptures. Turner and his family put Corratock, a historic home situated on Craddock Creek dating to 1780, under conservation with the Virginia Eastern Shore Land Trust.

with the land."

Turner and his family were involved early on with the land trust and its mission to conserve Virginia's Eastern Shore.

He and his immediate family owned Corratock, a historic home built in 1780 on Craddock Creek, for 25 years. In that time, they added to the legacy and stewardship of the property.

The Turners transitioned the land from agriculture to native grasses, clover, and other plants and habitat for wildlife. This improved the property for hunting but also created a wildlife sanctuary.

"We planned to keep the property as open space and we wanted to protect that open space perpetually," said Turner.

So, David, his father, William Turner Sr., and his brothers, Robert and William donated a conservation easement on Corratock in 2009.

Viewing Corratock from a boat on the Chesapeake Bay, one sees a long stretch (about 2.5 miles) of sandy beach marked on the southern end by a tall red tower. The tower is a small, raised cabin that sits on the point of a peninsula between Back Creek and Craddock Creek. Behind the beach, there are extensive marshlands (more than 1,000 acres) as well as some open land, forest, and ponds managed for wildlife.

While Corratock is a wonderful place for both hunting and fishing, Turner and his family also enjoyed wildlife viewing and beach combing.

"While we weren't planning on selling the property at that time, we considered that things change over time and property changes hands," he said. "A conservation easement protects the conservation benefits of the land when the property transfers to new ownership. I feel at ease knowing now that the property is owned by someone new, the conservation easement will preserve the land undeveloped and as open space."

Successive landowners retain the right to private ownership and use of the property as long as the use fits the conservation purposes protected by the easement.

Undeveloped, the property will continue to provide a sanctuary for wildlife and protect and restore local waterways.

"The bigger picture that I see is everything runs downstream," Turner said. "The less developed the land is, the less impact on and pollution in the creeks and bays. Clean water is good for us and wildlife."

Turner said he believes everyone can do something to enhance the Shore and protect the natural resources we are so lucky to enjoy. From picking up trash to conserving land, there's a way we can all contribute.

For David and his family, it was conserving Corratock for wildlife, water quality, and the next generation of land stewards.

Sewer collection system seeks contractor

BY STEFANIE JACKSON BOWMANN

Eastern Shore Post

The town of Chincoteague is on track to commit $1.1 million in American Rescue Plan Act funds to its sewer project well before the Dec. 31 deadline.

Town Manager Mike Tolbert told Chincoteague Town Council members on Monday, Oct. 7, that they likely will receive a recommendation for a contractor in mid-November.

The sewer collection system will be 2.1 miles long and run from the Sunset Bay treatment plant on Main Street to Maddox Boulevard, follow that road, and end at the Museum of Chincoteague.

The construction documents for the project were completed in September.

A pre-bid meeting for prospective contractors was held on Oct. 10.

Tolbert said the bids will be submitted on Nov. 12 and staff expects to recommend a contractor bid to the town council at its November workshop meeting — typically the third Thursday of the month.

He said Chincoteague Public Works Director Wes Parks and a consultant identified 26 qualified Eastern Shore contractors who will be notified of the project.

“It’s quite a number of qualified contractors they’ve come up with. ... They’ve done a very good job,” Tolbert said.

He said that once the contractor bid is accepted and the construction cost is known, staff will work “in earnest” to determine the costs of connection and maintenance for any business on Main Street or Maddox Boulevard that will hook up to the sewer system.

Sidewalks on South Main

Chincoteague town staff have been working with the Virginia Department of Transportation on a plan for a sidewalk on South Main Street, Tolbert said.

The sidewalk will connect Beebe Road to Curtis Merritt Harbor.

Tolbert said much of the area has few uplands, and VDOT is suggesting installing a boardwalk over the wetlands instead of a sidewalk on grade.

Councilwoman Denise Bowden added that just past Beebe Road, much of the marsh grass is dead or dying. She asked if a biologist could be consulted, and Tolbert agreed.

He said that the sidewalk would be installed only on the east side of the road because of the road’s pitch, which causes water to run back into the channel. A sidewalk on the west side of the road would trap water on the roadway, Tolbert said.

He also noted that Chincoteague is participating in VDOT’s Ready, Set, Go! program, through which the town receives free assistance in preparing an application for Local Assistance grant funding for the sidewalk project.

The Ready, Set, Go! program is for localities with populations of less than 200,000 and is part of VDOT’s Transportation Alternatives Program, which supports infrastructure for non-motorized travel.

Knowing the three components of early detection may save your life or the life of those you love.

Clinical Breast Exam

At age 25, have a clinical breast exam performed by your health care provider every three years, then yearly beginning age 40.

Mammograms

Begin annual screening mammograms at age 40; earlier if you are at high risk due to personal or family history. Tomosynthesis, otherwise known as a 3D mammogram, is encouraged.

Breast Self-Awareness

You know what is normal for your breasts. A change does not always indicate breast cancer. Still, be alert for the following:

- A lump in the breast or under the arm
- Skin changes, including a dimple, redness, or thickening
- Change in breast shape or size
- Nipple discharge
- Scaling or redness of the nipple and/or areola
- Nipple retraction or deviation
- New breast pain

If you notice any of these signs or something that doesn't look or feel quite right, notify your health care provider immediately.

The earlier breast cancer is detected, the easier it is to treat.

One in eight women will be diagnosed with breast cancer in their lifetime. Screenings help find cancer early, before you have any signs or symptoms.

Drug Take Back Day scheduled Oct. 26

The U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency encourages the proper and safe disposal of unused and expired prescription medications as one method of combating medication misuse, overdoses, and overdose deaths.

Unused prescription drugs can find their way into the wrong hands, and the outcome can be dangerous or even tragic.

Disposing of unused or expired medications in the trash can endanger humans who are looking for drugs or animals who are looking for food, and flushing the medications can endanger the local water supply.

In partnership with the Accomack

County Sheriff’s office and the Eastern Shore Community Services Board, Riverside will host a medication collection event at the Riverside Onancock campus on Oct. 26. From 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., community members can conveniently and anonymously hand over unwanted medications in a secure drive-through event and be assured of safe disposal.

Riverside cannot accept liquids, needles or sharps, only pills or patches.

Signage on the campus will direct participants where to go.

In case of inclement weather, the event will be moved indoors.

Take-home vehicles subject to IRS rules

BY JANET BERNOSKY
Eastern Shore Post

Pocomoke City Finance Director Brandy Matthews urged the city to “take a step back” to ensure its mileage policy regarding city-owned vehicles is consistent with current Internal Revenue Services regulations.

Her comments were made to the mayor and city council members at a Tuesday, Oct. 15, work session.

She said any employee driving a city vehicle must now be aware that mileage for personal travel in such vehicles needs to be documented and will therefore be taxable as a fringe benefit, according to IRS regulations.

For instance, miles driven in a city-owned vehicle to and from work are taxable at a rate of 67 cents per mile and would be reportable on the employees’ W2 form.

Once at work, job-related miles are not taxable.

Matthews said employees need to make a choice about when they begin to use a city-owned vehicle on a work day. One potential solution to avoid taxable miles is to drive a personal vehicle to and from work.

An exception, Matthews pointed out, is for law enforcement officers who might drive a police vehicle home.

She said mileage will be strictly monitored in order to be compliant

Train Club open house

The Pocomoke Area Model Train Club is holding an Open House on Saturday, Oct. 26, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the old train station located at 824 4th St., Pocomoke City. Club members have created realistic layouts that have existed in the area throughout the years, including during the Civil War, the 1940s, and the old train route from Pocomoke City to Cape Charles. The event will also feature a special Halloween layout.

with the IRS regulations.

Matthews also said an EMS command vehicle purchased with American Rescue Plan Act funds may not be driven to and from work.

This would not apply to other similar vehicles not purchased with these funds.

The city risks having to repay the $64,000 used toward the vehicle’s purchase back to the U.S. Treasury Department if it doesn’t comply.

When reached later, Councilmember C. L. Marshall said he felt it was important for the heads of the EMS and public works departments to be able to have access to city vehicles at home during non-working hours.

Should an emergency arise, it will save critical time for them to respond directly, rather than driving to the city garage for a vehicle.

He said solutions are to pay the funds back to ARPA or to allow other vehicles to be driven home not tied to ARPA funds.

Train club meets

Members of the Pocomoke Model Train Club attended the work session to discuss terms for a lease renewal involving the old train station the club has rented from the city since 2020.

The council and club members discussed options. Attorney Andrew Illuminati will prepare a new lease to present to the mayor and council reflecting those terms.

Members presented repairs needed to the city-owned building, particularly a roof leak resulting in damage to fascia and windows on one side of the building.

They said it was reported to the appropriate city channels on several occasions without reply. Their solution was to cover the area with a tarp.

Mayor Todd J. Nock said this was unacceptable, calling for city-owned buildings to be inspected twice per year to avoid having to make the repairs it now faces in buildings such as the Delmarva Discovery Museum.

Nock also expressed the hope that the club could become an entity under the city to preserve what they are doing historically for future generations.

Area Toastmasters Club helps effective communication

Highly successful individuals set goals and take the steps necessary to fulfill them.

If you want to be one of them, consider making a positive change in your life in 2024 by setting a goal to become a better communicator and leader.

Goals provide clarity and give you direction. They motivate you and give you the incentive to take action.

There was a Harvard business study that found that only 14% of people actually set goals for themselves.

Those who set goals were 10 times more likely to achieve a desired level of success than others who do not set goals.

Even if you are not among the 14% of people who have set goals for themselves, the goal of taking your communications and leadership skills to another level is one which you should consider.

Being an effective communicator and being an effective leader are closely related. You can get a step closer towards achieving this goal by joining a Toastmasters Club.

The Toastmasters program has proven to be successful because all Toastmaster clubs share the same mission. The mission of a Toastmasters club is to provide a supportive and positive learning experience in which members are empowered to develop communication and leadership skills, resulting in greater self-confidence and personal growth.

The Debedeavon Toastmasters Club is located in Wallops Island. Visit <https://750767.toastmastersclubs.org/>

For information about local Toastmasters clubs, contact Zakia Bright or Roland Westcott.

Toastmasters International is a worldwide nonprofit educational organization that empowers individuals to become more effective communicators and leaders.

Headquartered in Englewood, Colo., the organization's membership exceeds 357,000 in more than 16,600 clubs in 143 countries.

Since 1924, Toastmasters International has helped people from diverse backgrounds become more confident speakers, communicators, and leaders.

Christmas in Onancock events are scheduled

A weekend of holiday festivities in historic Onancock is highlighted by a rare opportunity to visit private homes, town landmarks, and several of Onancock's recently renovated buildings — many dating to the turn of the 19th century.

Chartered in 1680, Onancock is one of the oldest towns in Virginia. The 23rd annual Christmas Homes Tour will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturday Dec. 14.

Historic Cokesbury Church hosts its free, annual music festival the same day, from 2 to 4 p.m., with a variety of performances and Christmas carols.

Homes Tour tickets costs $30 and are available now at Eventbrite.com at "Onancock Christmas 2024" and starting Nov. 1 at the Book Bin in Onley.

PUBLIC NOTICE – ENVIRONMENTAL PERMIT

PURPOSE OF NOTICE: To seek public comment on a draft permit from the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) for the withdrawal of ground water in Accomack County, Virginia.

PUBLIC COMMENT PERIOD: October 18, 2024 to November 18, 2024

PERMIT NAME: Ground Water Withdrawal Permit issued by DEQ pursuant to applicable water laws and regulations

APPLICANT NAME, ADDRESS AND PERMIT NUMBER: ESYCC, Inc.; 14221 Country Club Rd., Melfa, VA 23410; GWI000206

NAME AND LOCATION OF WATER WITHDRAWAL: Eastern Shore Yacht and Country Club; 14221 Country Club Rd., Melfa, VA 23410

PROJECT DESCRIPTION: ESYCC, Inc. has applied for a reissuance of a permit for the golf course and country club. The permit would authorize the applicant to withdraw a maximum of 14,660,000 gallons per year and 5,000,000 gallons per month from the Surficial and Upper Yorktown-Eastover aquifers. The ground water withdrawal will support the golf course irrigation and facility uses. The top of the Upper Yorktown-Eastover aquifer at the proposed withdrawal site was determined to be 140 feet below land surface. The base of the Surficial aquifer at the proposed withdrawal site was estimated to be 50 feet below land surface. An aquifer is a body of rock or layer of sediment in the ground in which ground water is stored and transported. DEQ has made a tentative decision to issue the permit. The draft permit can be viewed at <https://www.deq.virginia.gov/permits/public-notice/water/water-withdrawal>

AFFECTED AREA: The radial distance from the wells to where computer modeling predicts the aquifer may experience one foot of drawdown due to the withdrawal is illustrated on a map that can be viewed in the draft permit linked above.

HOW TO COMMENT AND/OR REQUEST A PUBLIC HEARING: DEQ accepts comments and requests for public hearing by hand-delivery, e-mail, or postal mail. All comments and requests must be in writing and be received by DEQ during the comment period. Submittals must include the names, mailing addresses or email addresses of the commenter/requester and of all persons represented by the commenter/requester. A request for public hearing must also include: 1) The reason why a public hearing is requested. 2) A brief, informal statement regarding the nature and extent of the interest of the requester or of those represented by the requester, including how and to what extent such interest would be directly and adversely affected by the permit. 3) Specific references, where possible, to terms and conditions of the permit with suggested revisions. A public hearing may be held, including another comment period, if public response is significant, based on individual requests for a public hearing, and there are substantial, disputed issues relevant to the permit.

CONTACT FOR PUBLIC COMMENTS, DOCUMENT REQUESTS AND ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: Nicole Reungoat, DEQ Central Office, P.O. Box 1105, Richmond, VA 23218; Phone: 804-698-4192; E-mail: nicole.reungoat@deq.virginia.gov. The public may review the draft permit and application at the DEQ office named above by appointment or may request copies of the documents from the contact person listed above.
